

Parkeray

Well-being of staff in today's work environment is just as important as creating great space. It starts with a sustainable hydration.

Overview

Parkeray is a professional main contractor specialising in the fit out and refurbishment of office buildings and commercial premises within central London and the southern Home Counties.

With over 21 years' experience of delivering high-quality work environments for a number of sectors, Parkeray knows what it takes to carry a project beyond the finish line; while ensuring a smooth, positive project experience is had by all. Partnering with the very best professional teams and supply chain members, attention to detail and a quality output is a given while bringing the best in collaboration and innovation to the table. Every project requires a great understanding that ensuring the well-being of stakeholders in today's work environment is just as important as creating great space.

Parkeray HQ

London

The challenge – an efficient boiling and chilled filtered water system

Parkeray's new HQ at 24 King William Street is an open-plan office space, offering their employees a great space for collaborative working and client's meetings.

Following a long-standing working relationship with Billi, the project team was clear on their requirements when it comes to hydration. They were looking for a high-capacity under-counter system with a matching mixer tap to complement their stylish kitchen space, suitable for bottle filling as well.

Solution

Parkeray went ahead with two of the Billi Quadra Plus 9 in Matte Black with matching drainage fonts, providing boiling and chilled filtered water and paddle mixer taps, dispensing hot and cold filtered water to the impressive new office space.

They have also decided to extend their brand in a creative way by choosing our branded glass bottles, saving the environment by eliminating single-use plastic.

"When we picked Billi as our preferred supplier of under-counter filtered water systems, we knew that the product, customer service, installation and aftercare will be excellent. Dealing with different members of staff was smooth and efficient and we particularly like the black matte finish which complements our kitchen design very well. All in all, very pleased and we look forward to working with Billi on future projects."

Dean Mythen

Commercial Manager at Parkeray

