

LondonMetric Property Plc

Located on Curzon Street, LondonMetric has an office that really is a must-see!

Overview

LondonMetric invests in distribution, long income and convenience-led retail property. It owns £1.9 billion of property and employs an occupier-led approach to property investment and management.

LondonMetric have been in their stylish London HQ for five years, located in the exclusive and grand area of Mayfair on Curzon Street. The office space is one that has biophilia at its heart, with an array of plants, moss walls and pastel coloured furniture making it a place where employees want to be.

LondonMetric Property
London

The challenge - boiling, chilled and sparkling systems with a focus on sustainability

LondonMetric wanted to further enhance the wellbeing of their employees, whilst focusing on the growing importance of improving their sustainability and efficiency.

Solution

They went ahead with two Billi Quadra Sparkling 460 systems with XL dispensers in Chrome, providing boiling, chilled and sparkling filtered water. The Chrome taps perfectly fit in with the design of the stylish kitchen areas and the benefits of our Quadra systems allow LondonMetric to save invaluable space, energy and time.

As well as installing Billi taps, LondonMetric went one step further in their drive to become 'greener' and cut their carbon footprint. They decided to replace their single use bottles with branded glass bottles. Choosing our Oslo style, these personalised bottles add character to meetings rooms, whilst keeping clients and employees hydrated in the most sustainable way possible.

"After switching from another brand, we were inspired to choose Billi after their great product and customer reviews. Billi have been very impressive in delivering a first-class customer service from installation to aftercare. Dealing with different members of staff was smooth and efficient and we love the Chrome finish to our taps that complement our design aesthetics. As well as the Billi taps, we decided to move away from single-use plastic, contributing to our focus on becoming more sustainable. The glass bottles also look great in client meetings and extend our brand in a creative way."

Claire Atkinson
LondonMetric Property

