

Stand Out Clothing Retailer Installs Billi Taps

Just like their clothes, this clothing retailer has decided to stand out by installing stylish, sustainable hydration systems to give their staff that much-needed wellbeing boost.

UK HQ
London

Overview

A leading British clothing retailer specialising in fun, vibrant and modern clothing that truly celebrates the best of British, with bespoke stores in London and an established online presence internationally. They strive to enhance wardrobes for men, women and children of all ages with their eye-catching designs.

Their new HQ is an open-plan warehouse-style office, offering over 500 employees a great space for collaborative working and client meetings. Encouraging an agile working environment and creating a buzzing work atmosphere, where all teams are visible.

The challenge

One of their requirements was to provide stylish, instant chilled and boiling water within their social space in order to complement their kitchen designs and enable their staff to keep well hydrated and be at their most productive.

Solution

They went ahead with ten of the Billi Quadra Plus models in a chrome finish providing instantaneous boiling and chilled filtered water from the XL dispenser and hot and cold filtered water from the mixer taps. The Billi taps fit effortlessly into the social areas, providing sustainable, efficient and high-quality hydration solutions for all employees.

Why choose Billi...

Our Billi systems provide the perfect solution for environmentally and aesthetically conscious businesses.

Our unique heat-exchange technology means our systems are extremely energy efficient. The system harvests the waste heat generated by the chilled water cooling cycle, and then reuses it to pre-heat the water entering the hot water tank. This ensures massive CO2 energy savings compared to conventional boiling and chilled units.

Additionally, our unique systems mean kitchen cupboards do not require unsightly ducts or grilles, meaning our taps fit in effortlessly and add to the aesthetics of any project.

To find out how we can seamlessly fit into your next project, get in touch with us today!

marketing@billi-uk.com
0207 4566789

