

Scott Brownrigg

International design practice installs Billi taps into their stylish Guildford studio.

Overview

Scott Brownrigg are a global design leader ranked within the UK Top 10 and within the Global Top 100 of architectural practices. They have a vision to transform the industry and enrich lives through the built environment to create a better world.

They provide architecture, interior design, masterplan and urbanism, design strategy and technical advice across all major sectors, from education, business space, advanced technologies, hospitality, civic and cultural, residential and mixed use through to defence, transport and infrastructure.

They have studios across the UK in London, Edinburgh, Guildford and Cardiff and international studios in New York, Singapore and Amsterdam.

Scott Brownrigg
Guildford, Surrey

The challenge - boiling and chilled systems to provide a sustainable and premium hydration solution for all staff.

Scott Brownrigg wanted efficient and reliable hydration systems that would seamlessly fit into their modern workspace. They wanted to further enhance their open, inclusive and sociable culture, where our Billi taps would be the main feature of their collaborative tea point areas.

Solution

They went ahead with our Quadra 460 systems with XL dispensers in a matte black finish with matching paddle mixer taps. The systems provide instant filtered boiling and chilled drinking water and hot and ambient water from the mixer taps.

"The matte black Billi taps look fantastic in our kitchen areas and provide a much more sustainable and efficient alternative to traditional workplace kettles. We are continually impressed with the communication and customer service from Billi and look forward to working with them on some of our own future projects."

Rosa de Pablo

RIBA Associate Architect,
Scott Brownrigg

Billi<sup>TM</sup>

SCOTT
BROWNRIGG

